Dr. M. L. Ravitch, of Louisville, in the section on dermatology, made a plea for earlier d'agnos's of pellagra, as it presents a most serious problem in the Southern States. He favored the protozoan theory as the most plausible one with regard to the origin of the disease, the transmission being through migratory birds.

ARGUMENT NOT CONCLUDED.

Six More Attorneys Yet to Speak in Hawkins Case.

Hendersonville, N. C., June 6.—Argument continued in the Myrtle Hawkins case here to-day, five more attorneys being heard by the jury. This leaves six more attorneys to speak, and the argument will hardly be concluded tomorrow. The case will probably reach the jury some time Saturday.

The feature of to-day's argument was the speech of Judge O. V. F. Blythe, who declared that the presshad dealt a foul blow to Henderson-ville by the publicity given the case. He said the minds of the public had been inflamed, and what the evidence failed to bear out newspaper statements. Charles Toms, Mayo Staton, O. K. Bennett and J. F. Justice also spoke, The argument has been carefully conducted on account of the presence of women in the courtroom.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED

Case of L. H. Salvers Will Do Reviewed by Attorney-General.

Washington, June 6.—President Taft to-day directed attorney-General Wickersham to investigate the case of L. H. Salvers, of Pike county, Kv. recently sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for contempt of court for preventing witnesses from obeying a summons to testify in a moonshine case at Big Stone Gap. Va.

The President's action was prompted by representations made to him by Senator Eradley and Representatives Langley and Powers, of Kentucky, Austin. of Tennesseo, and Slemp, of Virginia, who called at the White House to-day.

Salyers, who is wealthy and a respected citizen of Pike county, was sentenced by H. Clay McDowell United States judge for the Western District of Virginia. The pytotest of the Congressmen and the President's action in ordering an investigation, it is said, the not reflect upon the judge.

To-Day They Will Go to Tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon.

Washington, June 6.—Admiral von Reheur-Paschwitz, with the other nineteen officers of the German cruisers, Moitke, Stettin and Bremen, delegated to represent the German fleet at Washington, to-day saw the future officers of the United States Navy undergoing instructions at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, and came away with an excellent impression of the institution and of the cudets.

The visitors left Washington early in the day on a special electric train, accompanied by Count von Bernstouff, the German ambiassador, Admiral Ward, Commander Belknap, Lieutenaat-Commanders Bricker and Williams and other American naval officers, and arrived at the academy shortly after noon. The party was received at the gates by Capitain Giobons, the superintendent of the academy, while a company of marines was drawn up as a guard of honor, and the band played the national anthems of Germany and the United States. At the same time a salute of nineteen guns was fired for the ambassador. The officers made an extended tour of inspection of the academy and witnessed the midday parade of the cadets, the line containing about 550 cadets. cadets, the line containing about
